An Infuriated Boar Attacks Two Young Men and Does Them Serious Injury.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PETERSBURG, VA., March 7.-Miss Mollio Harrison, a well known young lady, living in Ettrick, was attacked in her father's back yard Saturday night by an unknown man, who, unseen, grabbed her from behind. She began to scream for help, when he threatened to kill her if she did not hush and submit herself to his will. But the frightened young worken continued her cries, when the fiend then caught her by the hair,

An infuriated boar attacked the two Covington brothers near Petersburg yesterday afternoon, and one of the yourgmen received wounds so severe that physicians are not yet able to say what the result will be.

The two young men were on their way to attend the afternoon service at the First Baptist Church. They were well on their way when the boar attacked them. Both ran to escape the infuriated animal, but the boar overtook one of them. Peter Covington, and with his task tore a dangerous wound under the knee. The young men came to Petersburg and crudely treated the injury. They returned home that afternoon, and later Mr. Covington began to suffer so intensely that he had to be brought to physicians in this city. The wound was found to be a dangerous one, and Dr. Rennie, who is the physician in charge, said to-day that he could not yet fore-

ANTI-SALOON MEETING.

The largest audience that has taxed the capacity of the First Baptist Church for many mouths was present at the meeting held yesterday afternoon in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League of Wirghnia. One of the chief attractions Prirginia. One of the chief attractions was the Dailey Quartette, which rendered the musical selections. This is one of the most popular quartettes that comes to Petersburg, and the announcement that they would sing was all that was necessary to fill the church, so that many who came late could not get in. The songs of this quartette as effectively impressed the audience as any orator could have done.

who came late could not get in songs of this quartette as effectively impressed the audience as any orator could have done.

Rev. Dr. Taylor, the paster of the First Baptist Church, told of the Nicholson law in Indiana and the work of the arti-saloon people in that State. The fight in Virginia, he says, is free from any acrimony or bitterness, and is being conducted out of brotherly love.

Rev. S. C. Hatcher, of Market Street Methodist Church, one of the most popular ministers ever stationed in Petersburg, followed Dr. Taylor. He assured those who heard him that he would never abuse the man who keeps the bar, for he is conducting a legitimate business under the civil statute and is licensed to deal out the destructive intoxicant that curses and ruins one out of every five boys and produces two-thirds of the pauperism in this country. Mr. Hatcher sald the league would never go any further than public sentiment desired. He thinks that if the league were given $6,000 a year for six years that there would be no bar rooms left in the State. NEW DEACONS.

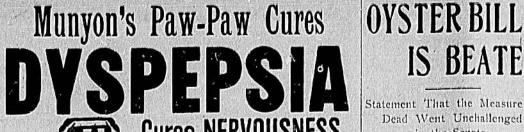

NEW DEACONS.

A congregational meeting of the members of Tabb Street Presbyterian Church, Rev. J. S. Foster pastor, was held yesterday morning for the purpose of choosing six additional deacons. Messrs, E. B. Spottswood, Alfred Friend, Jr., Harris T. Donnan, R. H. Senberry, Willis B. Smith and S. H. Hobbs were added to the board of deacons.

The congregation endorsed the recommendations made by the church officers regarding improvements to the church building and manse. About $1.500 will be expended, and the edifice will be thoroughly renovated. A steel celling will be put in, new carpets hald, electric lights and modern heating arrangements installed, staired glass windows put in, installed, staired glass windows put in, the building painted inside and out, and the Surday school room and pastor's residence improved.

It was announced at the meeting that the sum raised in the church for the pur-pose of replacing the missionary boat Lapsley now amounts to about $75. MURDER AT CITY POINT.

The river was dragged this morning and the body recovered by Captain Belcher, in command of a schooner at City Point. ROLY-POLY MAKES A HIT

Hundreds of Hustlers After the Times-Dispatch's

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

Business Men and Merchants Appreciate the Value of the Little "Ads."

Speaking about strenuosity, Richmond was full of it Monday; and all because of the little Roly-Poly "ads."

Men, women and even children were hustling in the warm rain to gain the prizes offered for the solution of the unique puzzle. With dripping umbrellas and wet skirts, the women hustled among the advertisers and copied the little adicts as the good-natured business men gave them out. There was no trouble, The call was mutually agreeable,

With proverbial politeness, the answers were given to all who asked, and many business men, by their courtesy, have made friends and patrons of the callers. It was Roly-Poly's day, and a busy one; and results will follow the good-natured business friendships engendered. To-day will be equally busy, and tomorrow, well, that will be busy, too, and up to Friday noon the merry game of questions and answers will go on. Then come the prizes, and surprises and disappointments: all can't win, even though The Times-Dispatch wishes they could,

But the lucky ones-here's to 'em. Roly-Poly created a sensation as great is "Who is Who?" It was unique, funny and instructive. If it has engendered the best feeling between advertiser and custemer, it has fulfilled its expectation and

In the assembling and mixing of so in the assembling and mixing of some many lines of pecupiar advertising it is not strange that errors occur. However, there are few. The most palpable and glaring one is the entire omission of the line, "Buckeye & Brockway vehicles," which belongs in the advertising square No. 85, under "Smith & Murphy's" advertising the property of the property of

p. part of the answer, and it will be counted as correct.

The little types are willy and inscrutable sometimes, and refuse to stay where placed. This is the case in the illustrative advertisement at the top of the page. John W. Atkinson & Co., No. 1421. East Main Street, should have read 1424. In 87, it says the Founain. Of course, it should be "Founain." However, there are few errors.

Contestants for the prizes must bear in mind this fact. Small omissions will appear in some lines. It occurs in cases where there were too many words to fill a single line. The answers given by business men will, in all cases, be accepted as correct, where the other lines are correct. This will show that contestants called upon the business men. However, there will be no confusion of trouble 18 awarding the prizes, as The Times-Dispatch has the correct key, and where a word or line has been changed it has been marked with red ink, and the original reading will be the answer.

The correct solutions will be published next Sunday, with a list of the prize winners.
